

Complete — with warnings    Scale 1–5    Panel 25 personas    Rating cells 75 valid · 0 missing

Overall mean 3.48    Coverage panel — not a representative sample

Warnings (8)

- persona-quality: persona p01: inferred 'job_to_be_done' lacks basis; persona p01: inferred 'current_solution' lacks basis; persona p01: inferred 'objections' lacks basis; persona p01: inferred 'proof_needs' lacks basis; persona p01: inferred 'switching_cost' lacks basis; persona p02: inferred 'job_to_be_done' lacks basis; persona p02: inferred 'current_solution' lacks basis; persona p02: inferred 'objections' lacks basis; persona p02: inferred 'proof_needs' lacks basis; persona p02: inferred 'switching_cost' lac
- consistency-review: Persona p20 has a pain emphasis of 'time consuming' which contradicts the supplied pain points of 'manual cold emailing' and 'lack of automations'.; Persona p22 has a pain emphasis of 'time consuming' which contradicts the supplied pain points of 'manual cold emailing' and 'lack of automations'.; Persona p24 has a pain emphasis of 'time consuming' which contradicts the supplied pain points of 'manual cold emailing' and 'lack of automations'.
- incomplete-panel: p09 dropped 2 answer(s) with invalid evidence
- incomplete-panel: p15 dropped 2 answer(s) with invalid evidence
- unsupported claims
- invalid evidence ids
- persona-response contradiction
- demographic stereotyping

Run context

|                    |                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Campaign objective | get more signups                                                                                                            |
| Product / service  | cold emailing automation software to help find customers                                                                    |
| Target audience    | Ages 20–60 · USA · expert familiarity · interested in small/medium business owner, tech savvy, looking for effeciency gains |
| Pain points        | manual cold emailing, lack of automations, time consuming                                                                   |
| Dimensions         | Attention, Credibility, Action intent                                                                                       |
| Run ID             | eval-90dd67fe3fc7                                                                                                           |

At a glance

OVERALL MEAN

3.48

Unweighted across 3 dimension(s)

STRONGEST DIMENSION

Attention

mean 3.80 · n=25

WEAKEST DIMENSION

Action intent

mean 3.16 · n=25

DISAGREEING DIMENSIONS

0

of 3 — see score detail

Visual summary

Bars are the panel mean (1–5); the faint band is ±1 standard deviation. Amber = high disagreement.

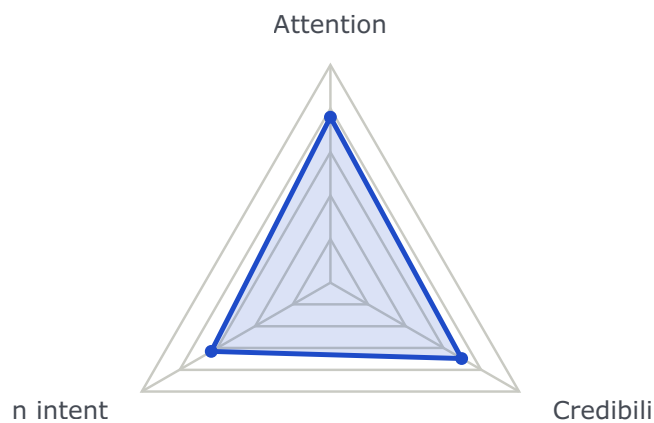

1 2 3 4 5 Share of ratings at each score.

|     | Attention | Credibility | Action intent |
|-----|-----------|-------------|---------------|
| p01 | 4         | 4           | 3             |
| p02 | 4         | 3           | 3             |
| p03 | 4         | 4           | 4             |
| p04 | 4         | 4           | 3             |
| p05 | 4         | 3           | 3             |
| p06 | 3         | 3           | 3             |
| p07 | 3         | 4           | 2             |
| p08 | 4         | 3           | 4             |
| p09 | 4         | 4           | 4             |
| p10 | 3         | 3           | 2             |
| p11 | 4         | 3           | 3             |
| p12 | 4         | 4           | 3             |
| p13 | 4         | 4           | 3             |
| p14 | 4         | 3           | 3             |
| p15 | 4         | 3           | 3             |
| p16 | 3         | 3           | 2             |
| p17 | 4         | 4           | 4             |
| p18 | 4         | 3           | 4             |
| p19 | 3         | 4           | 2             |
| p20 | 4         | 3           | 4             |
| p21 | 4         | 3           | 4             |
| p22 |           |             |               |

|     |   |   |   |
|-----|---|---|---|
|     | 4 | 4 | 3 |
| p23 | 4 | 4 | 4 |
| p24 | 4 | 3 | 3 |
| p25 | 4 | 4 | 3 |

1
2
3
4
5
NEI

Polygon shows the panel mean on each rated dimension (scale 1–5).

Recommended next actions

No recommendations were produced for this run.

Dimension scores

Scale 1–5

Attention

3.80 / 5

median 4.0 · sd 0.40 · n=25 ratings

Ratings 1 → 5

Credibility

3.48 / 5

median 3.0 · sd 0.50 · n=25 ratings

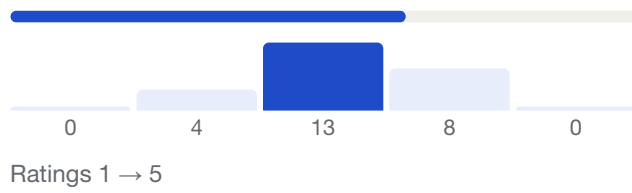

Ratings 1 → 5

Action intent

3.16 / 5

median 3.0 · sd 0.67 · n=25 ratings

Synthetic-panel dispersion, not a population confidence interval.

Audience themes

No themes (empty or partial run).

Structured extraction

Observation vs.
interpretation

OBSERVATION CONFIDENCE

|                       |             |      |
|-----------------------|-------------|------|
| o1 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o2 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o3 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o4 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o5 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o6 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o7 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o8 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o9 · visible text     |  | 100% |
| o10 · visible text    |  | 100% |
| o11 · brand           |  | 100% |
| o12 · product         |  | 100% |
| o13 · numerical claim |  | 100% |
| o14 · numerical claim |  | 100% |
| o15 · numerical claim |  | 100% |
| o16 · cta             |  | 100% |
| o17 · subjects        |  | 100% |
| o18 · subjects        |  | 100% |
| o19 · colors          |  | 100% |
| o20 · legibility      |  | 100% |

| ID                  | FIELD           | VALUE                                                                                                                                                                                                   | EVIDENCE                                                                                                                                                                                                | REGION       | CONF. |
|---------------------|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-------|
| o1  | visible text    | Instantly                                                                                                                                                                                               | Instantly                                                                                                                                                                                               | top-left     | 100%  |
| o2  | visible text    | Jun 9, 2025 - Now (466 days)                                                                                                                                                                            | Jun 9, 2025 - Now (466 days)                                                                                                                                                                            | top-left     | 100%  |
| o3  | visible text    | Set up in 180 seconds. Put outreach and deal closing o...                                                                                                                                               | Set up in 180 seconds. Put outreach and deal closing o...                                                                                                                                               | top-left     | 100%  |
| o4  | visible text    | See more                                                                                                                                                                                                | See more                                                                                                                                                                                                | top-left     | 100%  |
| o5  | visible text    | I've specialised in cold email marketing since 2018 and in this time I've used almost every popular cold-emailing tool available on the market today. Instantly is hands down my favourite of them all. | I've specialised in cold email marketing since 2018 and in this time I've used almost every popular cold-emailing tool available on the market today. Instantly is hands down my favourite of them all. | center       | 100%  |
| o6  | visible text    | Sam Wilson Managing Director, Canbury Partners                                                                                                                                                          | Sam Wilson Managing Director, Canbury Partners                                                                                                                                                          | center       | 100%  |
| o7  | visible text    | INSTANTLY.AI                                                                                                                                                                                            | INSTANTLY.AI                                                                                                                                                                                            | bottom-left  | 100%  |
| o8  | visible text    | Close More Deals with Instantly                                                                                                                                                                         | Close More Deals with Instantly                                                                                                                                                                         | bottom-left  | 100%  |
| o9  | visible text    | Try it free, no CC needed                                                                                                                                                                               | Try it free, no CC needed                                                                                                                                                                               | bottom-left  | 100%  |
| o10 | visible text    | Sign up                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Sign up                                                                                                                                                                                                 | bottom-right | 100%  |
| o11 | brand           | Instantly                                                                                                                                                                                               | Instantly                                                                                                                                                                                               | top-left     | 100%  |
| o12 | product         | Cold-emailing tool                                                                                                                                                                                      | cold-emailing tool                                                                                                                                                                                      | center       | 100%  |
| o13 | numerical claim | Specialised since 2018 (6 years)                                                                                                                                                                        | specialised in cold email marketing since 2018                                                                                                                                                          | center       | 100%  |
| o14 | numerical claim | Set up in 180 seconds                                                                                                                                                                                   | Set up in 180 seconds                                                                                                                                                                                   | top-left     | 100%  |
| o15 |                 | Used almost every popular tool                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                         | center       | 100%  |

| ID                  | FIELD           | VALUE                         | EVIDENCE                                                                   | REGION       | CONF. |
|---------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|-------|
|                     | numerical claim |                               | used almost every popular cold-emailing tool available on the market today |              |       |
| o16 | cta             | Sign up                       | Sign up                                                                    | bottom-right | 100%  |
| o17 | subjects        | Headshot of Sam Wilson        | Sam Wilson                                                                 | center       | 100%  |
| o18 | subjects        | US Dollar bills               | US Dollar bills                                                            | full_image   | 100%  |
| o19 | colors          | Purple-to-white gradient card | Purple-to-white gradient card                                              | center       | 100%  |
| o20 | legibility      | High                          | All text is clearly legible against its background.                        | full_image   | 100%  |

▾ Interpretations (4) — model reads, kept separate from facts

| ASPECT                   | READ                                                                                                                                                                                    | EVIDENCE                                                    | CONF. |
|--------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| tone              | Professional, authoritative, and results-oriented. The testimonial from a Managing Director adds significant weight.                                                                    | o5 o6o8 | 100%  |
| persuasion reason | The ad uses social proof (expert testimonial) and logical evidence (comparison to competitors) to persuade the user that Instantly is the best tool for closing deals.                  | o5 o6o8 | 100%  |
| attention driver  | The visual of US dollar bills framing the testimonial card immediately signals financial gain and success, which is the primary benefit being sold.                                     | o18 o8                      | 100%  |
| audience cues     | Targets B2B professionals, specifically those in sales, marketing, and leadership roles (Managing Director), who are focused on efficiency (180s setup) and revenue (Close More Deals). | o6 o3o8 | 100%  |

Persuasion strategies: social proof authority logical evidence emotional appeal

Composition. Stance: 9 skeptical · 8 neutral · 8 receptive · Familiarity: 7 new · 6 regular · 6 expert · 6 casual skeptical

STANCE

neutral

receptive

CATEGORY FAMILIARITY

9 new

7

8 casual

6

8 regular

6

expert

6

PRICE SENSITIVITY

medium

25

Panel slots rotate across your pain points, interests, familiarity, and stance — coverage by construction, not backstories.

| Persona profiles and individual responses (25) |                                                                                   |               |             |                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                                             | SEGMENT                                                                           | STANCE        | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                          | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| p01                                            | small/mediumbusinessowner facingmanual coldemailingissues | skeptical | new         | openai/gpt-4o-mini | Profile &amp; answers Needs: efficiency in outreach Supplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>situation: struggling with time-consuming email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li></ul> Responses:<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Attention: 4/5 — The ad effectively grabs attention with the promise of quick setup (180 seconds) and the financial success implied by the US dollar bills, which resonates with my need for efficiency in outreach. o3 o18</li><li>Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds credibility, and the claim of specialization since 2018 supports its believability, addressing my need for proof before switching tools. o5 o6 o13</li><li>Action intent: 3/5 — While the ad presents a compelling case with quick setup and a strong testimonial, my skepticism about price and the need for a demo before committing makes me hesitant to act immediately. o3 o5 o9</li></ul> |
| p02                                            | tech savvyindividuallacking                                               | neutral       | regular     | z-ai/glm-5.3-flash     | Profile &amp; answers Needs: better automation tools                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                                           | STANCE        | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                                            | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     | automationsfor efficiency                                                                     |               |             |                                                                  | Supplied (from brief): targeting tech-savvy individuals seeking automation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: looking for ways to improve workflow (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As someone whose job_to_be_done is implementing automation in email outreach, a cold-emailing tool promising 'Set up in 180 seconds' speaks directly to my lack of automations, and the dollar-bill visual plus an expert testimonial make me pause and look closely. o3 o12 o18 o5</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — My proof_needs call for social proof from other users, and the named testimonial from a Managing Director who has 'specialised since 2018' and 'used almost every popular cold-emailing tool' is a good start, but it's a single endorsement with no feature or support details, so my objection that it may not work for me keeps me only partly convinced. o5 o6 o13 o15</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — With medium switching cost and medium price sensitivity, 'Try it free, no CC needed' plus a clear 'Sign up' CTA lowers the barrier enough that I might test it, but since the ad shows no features or support info addressing my 'not sure if it will work for me' objection, I'm not ready to commit beyond a trial. o9 o16 o3</li> </ul> |
| p03 | small/mediumbusinessownerreceptive tosolutions formanual coldemailing | receptive | new         |  deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash  | Profile &amp; answers Needs: faster email outreach Supplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: frustrated with slow email processes (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a business owner frustrated with slow email processes, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' headline and the dollar-bill visual immediately signal speed and revenue, drawing me in. o3 o8 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director who claims years of</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                  | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                          |           |             |                      | experience makes it mostly believable, and the 'Try it free, no CC needed' addresses my proof_needs for a trial, partly overcoming my switching-cost objection. o5 o6 o9 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — I'm likely to act because the ad promises quick setup (180 seconds) and offers a free trial, which directly reduces my switching effort and satisfies my decision criteria for speed and cost. o3 o9 o10 o14</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| p04 | tech savvy expert seeking automation fit for their needs                 | skeptical | expert      | openai / gpt-4o-mini | Profile &amp; answers Needs: trustworthy automation solutions Supplied (from brief): targeting tech-savvy individuals seeking automation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: evaluating automation tools for effectiveness (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — The ad grabs my attention with its promise of a quick setup in 180 seconds, which appeals to my need for efficient automation solutions. o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds credibility, but I still have some skepticism about whether it fits my specific needs. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — While the ad presents a compelling case, my skepticism about whether it truly fits my needs makes me uncertain about taking action. o5 o3</li> </ul> |
| p05 | small/medium business owner neutral about manual cold emailing solutions | neutral   | casual      | z-ai/ glm-5.3-flash  | Profile &amp; answers Needs: convenient email outreach Supplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: considering options for email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a business owner with a manual cold emailing pain point, the dollar-bill imagery paired with 'Close More Deals' and the 'Set up in 180 seconds' convenience claim speaks directly to my decision criteria of</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                     | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                      | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                             |           |             |                            | convenience and results, so I'd clearly pause and look. o18 o3 o8 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The named testimonial from Sam Wilson, Managing Director, claiming expertise since 2018 and use of nearly every tool adds some weight, but as a casual-familiarity buyer my key proof need is security of data handling, which the ad never addresses, so I'm only partly convinced. o5 o6 o13 o15</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — The 'Try it free, no CC needed' offer and 180-second setup lower the switching cost I'd face moving off my personal-email routine, but my standing objection that the timing isn't right means I might sign up rather than definitely will. o9 o10 o3 o14</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| p06 | tech savvy expert looking for price-effective automation    | receptive | expert      | deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: affordable automation solutions Supplied (from brief): targeting tech-savvy individuals seeking automation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: searching for cost-effective automation tools (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 3/5 — As a tech savvy expert seeking cost-effective automation, the 'Try it free' and 180-second setup catch my eye, but the ad lacks explicit pricing info which is my primary concern. o3 o9 o14</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — As a tech savvy expert, I find the testimonial credible but insufficient without a demo; the ad lacks concrete proof of cost-effectiveness. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — As a price-sensitive expert, the free trial reduces risk, but I need to verify features and pricing before committing; the ad doesn't show pricing details. o9 o10</li> </ul> |
| p07 | small/medium business owner skeptical about quality of cold | skeptical | regular     | openai/gpt-4o-mini         | Profile &amp; answers Needs: high-quality email outreach Supplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: doubting effectiveness of email tools (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                           | STANCE  | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                      | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|-------------|----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     | emailing solutions                                                |         |             |                            | Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 3/5 — The ad includes a strong visual of US dollar bills, which grabs my attention as a business owner interested in improving outreach quality, but it doesn't fully engage my skepticism about effectiveness. o18 o8</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds credibility, but as someone skeptical about cold emailing solutions, I still need more social proof from users like me to fully trust it. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 2/5 — While the ad presents a compelling offer, my skepticism about whether it will work for me leads to a low likelihood of acting on it without further proof of effectiveness. o9 o5</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| p08 | tech savvy individual seeking efficiency gains through automation | neutral | new         | z-ai/glm-5.3-flash | Profile &amp; answersNeeds: faster email processesSupplied (from brief): targeting individuals looking for efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: looking to enhance productivity (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As someone whose biggest objection is 'too much effort to implement,' the 'Set up in 180 seconds' claim instantly hooks me since I'm hunting for automation efficiency gains, and the dollar-bill visual plus bold 'Instantly' branding make me pause while scrolling tech content. o3 o14 o1 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — Reading tech blogs, I'm wary of ad testimonials, but the specific details—specialized since 2018 and having 'used almost every popular cold-emailing tool' from a named Managing Director—add weight; still, as someone new to this category with no brand familiarity, one quote with no metrics or third-party proof keeps me only partly convinced. o5 o6 o13 o15</li> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — My top proof need is a trial of the software, and 'Try it free, no CC needed' with a clear 'Sign up' CTA removes both cost risk and friction, while</li> </ul> |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                                         | STANCE        | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                                            | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                                                 |               |             |                                                                  | the 180-second setup claim directly answers my objection that automation tools take too much effort to implement — so I'm likely to test it. o9 o10 o16 o3 o14                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| p09 | small/mediumbusinessownerreceptive totrust in coldemailingsolutions | receptive | regular     |  deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash  | Profile &amp; answers Needs: trustworthy email outreach Supplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: considering reliable email solutions (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a small/medium business owner looking for reliable email solutions, the dollar bills and 'Close More Deals' headline grab my attention because they directly speak to my revenue concerns, and the 180-second setup claim is a strong hook for my manual cold emailing pain. o18 o8o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The expert testimonial from Sam Wilson, who claims to have used almost every popular tool since 2018, boosts my trust, but I still have an objection about whether it fits my needs, and the ad lacks the ROI analysis I need to fully believe it. o5 o6 o13</li> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — The 'Try it free, no CC needed' offer lowers my switching cost, and the promise of closing more deals aligns with my goal, so I'm likely to sign up, though I'd want more proof of ROI before fully committing. o9 o8o10</li> </ul> |
| p10 | individuallooking forefficiencygainsskepticalaboutautomationtiming  | skeptical | casual      |  openai/gpt-4o-mini                    | Profile &amp; answers Needs: convenient automation solutions Supplied (from brief): targeting individuals looking for efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: debating the right time to automate (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 3/5 — The ad has elements like 'Close More Deals' and a quick setup time that catch my eye, but as someone skeptical about automation timing, I need</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                                          | STANCE  | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                      | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|-------------|----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                                                  |         |             |                            | more compelling reasons to engage. o3o8 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds some credibility, but my skepticism about the timing of automation makes me question the overall trustworthiness of the claims. o5o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 2/5 — While the ad presents a quick setup and potential efficiency gains, my current manual methods and skepticism about the right time to automate lead me to feel unlikely to act on this ad. o3 o8</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| p11 | small/mediumbusinessownerneutral aboutprice of coldemailingsolutions | neutral | expert      | z-ai/glm-5.3-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: affordable email outreachSupplied (from brief): targeting small/medium business owners with cold emailing pain points <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: evaluating cost of email outreach tools (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a business owner whose pain is manual cold emailing, the dollar-bill imagery paired with 'Close More Deals with Instantly' and a fast 'Set up in 180 seconds' promise speaks directly to my revenue and efficiency concerns, so I'd clearly pause on it even though it's not impossible to ignore. o18 o8 o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — With my expert category familiarity, a named Managing Director testimonial claiming he's 'used almost every popular cold-emailing tool' since 2018 is partly believable but reads like typical paid praise, and it offers none of the specifics or demo of the software I need before trusting claims. o5 o6o13 o15</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — The 'Try it free, no CC needed' sign-up lowers my switching cost from manual sending, but since I'm evaluating cost against my price/features/quality criteria and the ad shows no pricing or feature detail, I might try it rather than definitely acting. o9 o10o3</li> </ul> |
| p12 | individuallooking for                                                                        |         | casual      |                            | Profile &amp; answers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| ID | SEGMENT                                       | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                          | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|----|-----------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|    | efficiency gainsreceptive to social proof | receptive |             | deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash | Needs: effective automation solutions Supplied (from brief): targeting individuals looking for efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: searching for reliable automation tools (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As someone looking for efficiency gains, the dollar bills and 'Close More Deals' headline grab my attention because they promise financial results, and the 180-second setup speaks directly to my need for speed.o3 o8 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from Sam Wilson, a Managing Director with 6 years of specialization, provides strong social proof that addresses my objection about not being sure if it will work for me, making it mostly believable. o5 o6 o13</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — I'm receptive and the free trial with no credit card needed lowers my switching cost, but I still need more user reviews or case studies to fully overcome my uncertainty before acting.o9 o10</li> </ul> |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                     | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| p13 | small business owner + frustrated with manual emailing + seeking efficiency | skeptical | new         | openai / gpt-4o-mini | Profile &amp; answers Needs: efficiency in cold emailing Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: struggling with time-consuming email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — The ad effectively grabs my attention with the promise of quick setup in 180 seconds, which appeals to my need for efficiency in cold emailing. o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds credibility, and the claim of specialization since 2018 suggests reliability, addressing my proof needs. o5 o6 o13</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — While the ad presents a compelling offer with a free trial, my skepticism about the effort required to implement new software makes me hesitant to act immediately. o9</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                             |
| p14 | medium business owner + seeking automation solutions + prioritizing trust   | neutral   | regular     | z-ai/ glm-5. 3-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: automated emailing solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: looking for reliable automation tools (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As an owner whose pain is lack of automations and who is hunting efficiency gains, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' claim and the dollar-bill imagery promising deal-closing revenue speak directly to my ROI and ease-of-integration criteria, so I'm clearly drawn in rather than glancing past. o3 o14 o18 o8</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — Trustworthiness is my top decision criterion and I need demonstrated ROI from other users; the attributed testimonial from a Managing Director who has specialized since 2018 and 'used almost every popular cold-emailing tool' is decent social proof, but it offers no quantified results, nothing on fitting with my existing systems, and the money-bills framing reads promotional,</li> </ul> |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                       | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                      | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                               |           |             |                            | so it's only partly believable. o5 o6 o15 o18 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — With my medium switching cost, 'Try it free, no CC needed' plus the Sign up CTA makes trialing low-risk, but since the ad never addresses my objection about fit with existing systems or shows ROI proof from users like me, I might act rather than definitely will. o9 o10 o16</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| p15 | small business owner + overwhelmed by manual emailing + open to new solutions | receptive | new         | deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: convenient cold emailing solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: frustrated with time-consuming email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a small business owner drowning in manual emailing, the bold 'Close More Deals' headline and dollar-bill imagery grab me, and the 'Set up in 180 seconds' promise directly speaks to my time crunch. o3 o8 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director with six years of experience adds some believability, but I need security assurances for my data handling, and the ad doesn't mention any security features, which makes me doubtful. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — I'm open to new solutions and the 'Try it free, no CC needed' reduces my risk, but my objection about timing of implementation makes me hesitate, and the lack of security details holds me back from acting now. o9</li> </ul> |
| p16 | medium business owner + skeptical about new tools + focused on pricing        | skeptical | expert      | openai/gpt-4o-mini         | Profile &amp; answers Needs: cost-effective automation solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: evaluating cost vs. benefits of automation (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 3/5 — The ad captures my attention with the promise of quick setup in 180 seconds, which aligns with my interest in efficiency gains, but it doesn't</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                       | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                          | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                               |           |             |                                                | stand out significantly due to my skepticism about new tools. o3 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds some credibility, but my skepticism about new tools makes me question the overall trustworthiness of the claims made in the ad. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 2/5 — While the ad presents a free trial, my concern about the price being too high and the need for a demo to showcase features makes me unlikely to act immediately. o9</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| p17 | small business owner + casual user of email tools + seeking quality solutions | neutral   | casual      | z-ai/glm-5.3-flash                     | Profile &amp; answers Needs: high-quality emailing tools Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: considering options for email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a small business owner stuck with manual cold emailing and hungry for efficiency gains, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' promise and dollar-bill imagery promising 'Close More Deals' clearly pull me in for a closer look. o3 o8 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — My key proof need is social proof from other users, and the named testimonial from Sam Wilson, Managing Director, citing six years of specialization and hands-on use of nearly every competing tool, mostly satisfies my trust-in-new-software objection, though I'd still want to verify it via online reviews. o5 o6 o13 o15</li> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — Since I'm actively considering options for email outreach and my objection is trust in new software, the 'Try it free, no CC needed' offer plus a clear Sign up CTA lowers my medium switching cost enough that I'd likely test it. o9 o10 o16</li> </ul> |
| p18 | medium business owner + efficiency-focused + open to trials                   | receptive | expert      | deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: speedy automation solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: seeking faster email solutions (basis: pain point of lack of automations)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                          | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                  |           |             |                      | Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a medium business owner seeking faster email solutions, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' claim and dollar-bill visual immediately grab my attention because they promise speed and financial gain. o3 o14 o8 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director who has used many tools is credible, but my proof needs require a trial to fully believe; the free trial offer helps but I'm only partly convinced. o5 o6 o9</li> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — The 'Try it free, no CC needed' directly lowers my switching-cost objection, and the 180-second setup matches my decision criteria for speed, making me likely to sign up. o3 o9 o14</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                   |
| p19 | small business owner + cautious about new tools + focused on fit | skeptical | regular     | openai / gpt-4o-mini | Profile &amp; answersNeeds: trustworthy emailing solutionsSupplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: weighing options for email automation (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 3/5 — The ad captures my attention with the promise of quick setup (180 seconds), which appeals to my interest in efficiency, but it doesn't stand out significantly in a crowded market. o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director lends credibility, but I still have concerns about fit with my current processes, which makes me cautious. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 2/5 — While the ad presents a compelling case, my skepticism about new tools and the need for demonstrated ROI from existing users makes me unlikely to act immediately. o5</li> </ul> |
| p20 | small business owner + overwhelmed by time constraints +         | neutral   | new         | z-ai / glm-5.3-flash | Profile &amp; answersNeeds: convenient emailing solutionsSupplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: struggling to manage email outreach (basis: pain point of time consuming)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                                       | STANCE        | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                                            | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     | seekingconvenience                                                                        |               |             |                                                                  | Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a small business owner whose core pain is time-consuming email outreach, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' promise speaks directly to my time constraints, and the clean, highly legible card with money imagery makes me pause rather than scroll past on my usual forums and social feeds. o3 o14 o18 o20</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The named testimonial from a Managing Director specialised since 2018 who claims to have used almost every competing tool carries real weight, but my key proof need — security assurances for data handling — is completely absent, and as someone new to this category the dollar-bill framing reads more like hype than evidence. o5 o6 o13 o15 o18</li> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — My main objection is timing of implementation, and 'Set up in 180 seconds' answers it head-on, while 'Try it free, no CC needed' removes the cost risk that matters at my medium price sensitivity — that combination makes me likely to sign up and test the convenience myself. o3 o9 o14 o16</li> </ul> |
| p21 | mediumbusinessowner +seekingqualitysolutions +cautiousabout price | receptive | regular     |  deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash  | Profile &amp; answers Needs: high-quality emailing tools Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: evaluating options for email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As a medium business owner focused on improving email outreach, the visual of dollar bills and the headline 'Close More Deals with Instantly' immediately signal financial gains, which grabs my attention given my job to improve outreach quality. o8 o18 o3</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director who has used many tools is partly believable, but as a cautious buyer I need a demo to verify features—the ad lacks that proof, leaving some doubt about whether it truly meets my quality standards. o5 o6 o13</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                     | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                             |           |             |                      | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Action intent: 4/5 — The free trial with no credit card reduces my price sensitivity concern, and the quick setup addresses my need for efficiency, making me likely to try it, though I would still want a demo before fully committing. o9 o3 o14</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| p22 | small business owner + casual user of email tools + seeking quality         | skeptical | casual      | openai / gpt-4o-mini | Profile &amp; answers Needs: high-quality emailing solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>situation: considering options for email outreach (basis: pain point of time consuming)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Attention: 4/5 — The ad effectively grabs attention with the promise of quick setup (180 seconds) and the financial success implied by the visuals of US dollar bills, which resonate with my interest in improving email outreach quality. o3 o18</li> <li>Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds significant credibility, but as a skeptical small business owner, I still need more social proof from other users to fully trust the product. o5 o6</li> <li>Action intent: 3/5 — While the ad presents a compelling case with a quick setup and a strong testimonial, my trust in new software is a concern, making me uncertain about taking immediate action. o5 o3</li> </ul> |
| p23 | small business owner + frustrated with manual emailing + seeking efficiency | neutral   | expert      | z-ai/ glm-5.3-flash  | Profile &amp; answers Needs: efficient cold emailing solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>situation: struggling with time-consuming email outreach (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Attention: 4/5 — As someone stuck manually sending emails one by one, 'Set up in 180 seconds' speaks directly to my efficiency pain and my objection about implementation effort, and the dollar-bill imagery plus an expert testimonial make me pause and look. o3 o5 o18</li> <li>Credibility: 4/5 — Being an expert in this category, a named practitioner testimonial citing six years since 2018</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| ID  | SEGMENT                                                                 | STANCE    | FAMILIARITY | MODEL                                          | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|-------------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                         |           |             |                                                | and having 'used almost every popular cold-emailing tool' reads like credible peer proof rather than vague marketing, though I'd still want to verify the 180-second claim myself. o5 o6 o13 o15 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Action intent: 4/5 — 'Try it free, no CC needed' matches my exact proof need for a trial to test effectiveness, and the 180-second setup lowers the switching effort I worry about, so I'm likely to sign up and test it against my manual process. o9 o10 o3 o14</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| p24 | medium business owner + overwhelmed by time constraints + seeking trust | receptive | casual      | deepseek/deepseek-v4-flash | Profile &amp; answers Needs: trustworthy emailing solutions Supplied (from brief): interested in efficiency gains <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: struggling to manage email outreach (basis: pain point of time consuming)</li> </ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Attention: 4/5 — As an overwhelmed small business owner, the 'Set up in 180 seconds' promise directly addresses my time constraints, and the dollar bill visual and testimonial draw me in, making me pause to look. o3 o14 o18</li> <li>• Credibility: 3/5 — The testimonial from Sam Wilson, a Managing Director who tried every tool, is partly believable, but my cautious nature demands security assurances for data handling, which the ad omits, so I remain somewhat doubtful. o5 o6</li> <li>• Action intent: 3/5 — I'm interested in the free trial and quick setup, but my medium switching cost and need for data-handling proof mean I might try it cautiously rather than commit right away. o9 o14</li> </ul> |
| p25 | small business owner + overwhelmed by tasks + seeking efficiency gains  | skeptical | new         | openai / gpt-4o-mini                           | Profile &amp; answers Needs: automate cold emailing Supplied (from brief): target audience includes small/medium business owners in the USA <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• situation: struggling with daily email outreach tasks (basis: pain point of manual cold emailing)</li> <li>• job to be done: increase customer outreach efficiency (basis: interest in looking for efficiency gains)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| ID | SEGMENT | STANCE | FAMILIARITY | MODEL | PROVENANCE & RESPONSES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|----|---------|--------|-------------|-------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|    |         |        |             |       | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• current solution: manually sending emails one by one (basis: pain point of time consuming cold emailing)</li><li>• objections: timing (basis: top objection listed)</li><li>• proof needs: security of data (basis: proof need listed)</li><li>• switching cost: medium (basis: medium price sensitivity)</li></ul> Responses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Attention: 4/5 — The ad effectively grabs attention with the promise of quick setup (180 seconds) and the financial success imagery (US dollar bills), appealing to my need for efficiency gains. o3 o18</li><li>• Credibility: 4/5 — The testimonial from a Managing Director adds credibility, and the claim of specialization since 2018 supports trustworthiness, addressing my skepticism about effectiveness. o5 o6 o13</li><li>• Action intent: 3/5 — While the ad presents a compelling case for efficiency, my objections regarding setup complexity and timing make me hesitant, leading to a moderate likelihood of action. o3 o9</li></ul> |

▼ Methodology & run provenance

Model openai/gpt-4o-mini · pipeline v0.1.0 · revision 5b62137 · 32 provider calls

Scored by 3 model(s) across 3 vendor(s) [OpenAI, Zhipu (GLM), DeepSeek] · extraction: google/gemini-3.1-flash-lite-image

SCORING MODEL MIX

openai/gpt-4o-mini

9 deepseek/deepseek-v3

8

z-ai/glm-5.3-flash

8

Schema v0.1.0 · started 2026-09-22 16:01:35 UTC · tokens 86045 in / 23766 out · 906353 ms · est. $0.1098

• synthetic-panel dispersion, not population CI (n=75)

• experimental screening signal; not a replacement for human research

Experimental creative-screening signal — not a replacement for human research. No CTR, sales, or causal-lift claims. Every number is computed in code; the model never writes a score.

Evaluate another ad